Learn to “paint” with yarn using tapestry techniques. We usually think of tapestries as densely woven, weft-faced weaves used for wall hangings and rugs. However, the same techniques can be used with finer yarns and balanced weaves to create textiles suitable for clothing and accessories.

You will come to class with your rigid heddle or multi-harness loom warped for a cowl. After learning various ways to join colors, you will get a good start on weaving your cowl. Finishing and seaming will be demonstrated so that you can complete your project at home if necessary. Warping information will be provided prior to class.

About the instructor:

Judith has been a weaver for over 50 years. She was a yarn shop owner, yarn sales rep, yarn importer, and knitwear designer before retiring and moving to Tucson in 2017. Her book, Weave • Knit • Wear, published by XRX, features 30 garments and accessories, all created on a rigid-heddle loom. Though she now also weaves on an 8-shaft loom, she still enjoys exploring the creative possibilities of plain weave. To see more of Judith’s fabulous pieces, go to www.judithshangold.com
