Overshot is a weave structure that has been used since colonial times.
The appearance of Overshot can change with different treading combinations:
Star Fashion, Rose Fashion, Lace, Sunrise, or using many colors to achieve a needlework design, just to name a few.

Each student will receive instructions to set up their looms in advance of the workshop. Working on their own looms, the sample woven will represent the many possibilities of Overshot. Instruction will include basic overshot theory as well as designing your own patterns.

Patty Huffer lives in Washington state and has been weaving since 1981. After graduating from Central Washington University, with a dual education degree in Home Economics and Physical Education, she took a summer weaving class. This began her 40 years of weaving and teaching others to weave and spin. Patty's experience and use of many varieties of looms and threading has contributed to her ongoing passion for weaving. It is always amazing what can be achieved with different yarns (natural and synthetic) and woven structures.
